

The STOP RECOIL system is especially suitable for large-caliber weapons as well as light and heavy artillery pieces, incredibly reducing the recoil produced by the expansion of gases that produces the shot.

The active principles of this system are the forced reversal of gas outflow and inertial pressure shock.

 Oficina Española
de Patentes y Marcas

Patent Nº U201631544